UCLG CONGRESS
WORLD SUMMIT OF LOCAL AND REGIONAL LEADERS

Program

#UCLGCongress

Detailed program

UCLG CGLU

LOCAL 4 ACTION HUB by UCLG

The World Summit of Local and Regional Leaders and World Congress is the largest gathering of mayors, presidents of associations, local elected officers, and practitioners from around the world. Convened by United Cities and Local Governments (UCLG) from 10-14 October in Daejeon, it also gathers critical partners from international organizations and civil society driving forward the decision-making of city and community life.

For the first-time hybrid, in the 2022 World Summit we will embrace new possibilities to open up to audiences beyond the city of Daejeon, to be all together in every way we can while bringing in the Korean perspective on key issues of the international agenda.

The highlights of the program will include preparatory meetings of UCLG sections on Monday 10th and the kick-off of the Networking Hub, a series of innovative in-person sessions to dive into the World Organization, on Tuesday 11th. Following the official opening of the World Summit, on Wednesday 12th, the program will feature high-level political events connected to the UCLG Pact for the Future of Humanity, which will continue throughout Thursday 13th and Friday 14th.

A Guide to Action, a unique and practical resource which guides any type of organization on how to integrate accessibility into standard practice. The resource provides guidance and self-assessment tools for each of these areas, for organizations to assess where they are, and informing actions towards where they want to go.
10:00-11:30		Local4Action Track Promoting the Principles of Effective Governance in Africa: Peer Learning among African Local and Regional Governments African Local Governments Academy (ALGA) The 11 Principles of Effective Governance adopted by the UN ECOSOC in 2018 apply to all public institutions and are based on the following pillars: effectiveness, accountability and inclusiveness. The 11 Principles can be best implemented at the local and regional levels of governance, where the results and impact of effective governance are most visible and where local public institutions can gain the trust of citizens, users, service providers and partners. The session aims to raise awareness about these Principles and discuss how to create an enabling environment to anchor them at local and regional levels, particularly in Africa.	DCC1 – 204-205
10:00-10:30		Networking Hub Sparking celebration: Kicking off the Networking Hub The inaugural session is aimed at sharing the concept, highlights, spaces, and overall program of the Networking Hub in collaboration with some of our closest partners. 09:00-09:45	Town Hall Track Feminism Caucus - Constituency Building of Political Aims: Women's Leadership Transforming the Future The purpose of this second meeting of the Feminism Caucus, led by Huairou Commission, is to reflect on what has been heard thus far in the Congress, from a gender and women's empowerment lens. It will then look to further plan coordinated messaging for the finalization of the outcome documents and for working together beyond the Congress.	DCC1 – 204-205
10:00-11:30	Assembly Track Africa Assembly (TBC) The Assembly Track aims at deliberating and presenting continental and thematic priorities that contribute to the global policies of the World Organization. The Assembly will be co-chaired by the regional political leaders with inputs by the co-chairs of the Policy Councils and with the lead of the UCLG Regional Sections.	DCC1 – 301 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:30	Town Hall Track Culture & Climate This Town Hall will cover the relationship between climate and culture and focus on the social side of the climate crisis. Issues such as climate justice, displacement, and resilience will be covered in light of the Stockholm +50 process, to achieve a healthy planet for the prosperity of all.	DCC1 – Agora Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:00	Local4Action Track Declaring Climate Emergency at the Local Level: a Global Dialogue on its purpose, process and impact ICLEI In summer 2022, all Korean local and regional governments (220) declared a Climate Emergency within a unique, unified movement - similar to declaring a pandemic. In doing so, the subnational governments of the Republic of Korea wanted to set the signal for urgent climate action in the country. This dialogue between mayors and high-level officials proposes to take a look into the purpose, process and impact of declaring Climate Emergency at the local and regional level, in a global setting.	DCC1- 109-110 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:30	Implementing Smart City Policies Responsibly World Economic Forum (WEF) In this session, participants will learn about the G20 Global Smart Cities Alliance and the benefits that cities can gain from following this agenda - and how they can implement better policies. Leading Korean organizations will share their experience of developing and supporting the implementation of better smart city policies and regulations. Participants will come away with a deeper understanding of the responsibility they hold in deploying technology in line with Agenda 30 and the steps they can take to achieving this through appropriate governance measures.	DCC1 – 101-102 Interpretation EN - ES - FR

10:00-11:30	The Future of Public Services: Impact on local economic development and the generation of quality employment in the territory UCLG Committee on Social and Economic Inclusion The session will highlight how the provision of basic services which respond to the needs of people can generate and maintain quality employment. The efficient management of these services brings innovation to the local economy and promotes sustainability and social cohesion. Practices of governments and public companies will be analyzed as a means of transferring and promoting efficient and inclusive management to advance towards fairer and more sustainable territories. The sharing of these successful experiences, both in terms of employment and management will promote transformative public policies, aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals and linked to the ecological transition, the green economy and social innovation.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:30	Monitoring & Reporting on the SDGs: Why and how to capture SDG progress at local level? Capacity and Institution Building (CIB) Working Group The Global Taskforce's annual report "Towards the Localization of the SDGs", the Voluntary Local Reviews (VLRs) produced by more than 150 cities and regional governments, and the 25 Voluntary Subnational Reviews (VSRs) produced by various local government associations, show how critical local governments are for achieving Agenda 2030. The progress documented in these mechanisms should enter Voluntary National Reviews (VNRs), as they remain the main instruments for reporting on the SDGs at UN level. This session will explore how to capture local progress, and to interlink VNRs, VSRs and VLRs, in the years to come.	DCC1 – 204-205
10:00-11:30	Daejeon Track Diagnostics Technology and Pandemics BIONEER Ltd., a Biotechnology Company and Diagnostic Tool Manufacturer Diagnostics technology has proved critically essential in the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic. Quick and reliable diagnosis is key to implementing anti-virus measures. BIONEER, a Korean biotechnology company and diagnostic tool manufacturer, will present an industry perspective on how to effectively thwart the next pandemic. The session will also look back at various measures taken against COVID-19 and draw lessons to help prepare for future pandemics.	DCC1 – 107-108 Hybrid Interpretation EN - KO

12:00-13:30	The Future of Cultural Rights Shaping the New Sustainable Development UCLG Committee on Culture UCLG is committed to promoting and making visible the role of culture in sustainable development and in response to the challenges facing humanity. This session will allow cities and cultural organizations to present and promote their actions towards the achievement of sustainable development from a cultural and rights-based perspective. The session will also enable further reflection on the crucial role of culture and cultural rights to tackle climate change and achieve gender equality, and will provide insights on its importance for the UCLG Pact of the Future.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
12:00-13:30	Localization Tools and Approaches for Accelerating Progress on the SDGs UN-Habitat This session aims to provide a space of information-sharing and interaction on hands-on tools that turn the concept of SDGs localization into a reality. This session will be practical-oriented and will showcase key features, as well as challenges, of the tools and their applications. It will also offer space for interaction with the public by engaging them in a practical exercise.	DCC1 – 204-205
12:00-13:30	Building a Code for Territorial Trust for, from and by Intermediary Cities UCLG World Forum of Intermediary Cities Intermediary Cities are pivotal for building life systems for a resilient future, caring for all communities -regardless of origin- and defending the quality of life which relies on rural-urban systems. They are strategically positioned to implement new models of living for the world we want. This session a provides a pathway for Intermediary Cities to experiment with the implementation of the SDGs and the Pact for the Future while renewing trust with their local communities. The kick-off of this process should culminate in the presentation of the consensus document at the Intermediary Cities World Forum in 2023.	DCC1 – 109-110 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
12:30-14:00	Daejeon Track Water and Carbon Neutrality Korea Water Resources Corporation (K-water) Local governments play a key role in cutting global carbon emissions. It is a welcome sign that several hundred cities have already set targets to reach carbon neutrality. Achieving this goal requires ambitious and wide-ranging measures and policies in fields such as energy, industry, transportation and power generation. With Korea Water Resources Corporation (K-water) exploring the water-energy nexus in the urban context, this session will suggest a variety of policy and technology options to help reach carbon neutrality by 2050.	DCC1 – 107-108 Hybrid Interpretation EN - KO

14:00-15:30	The Future of Climate Justice: Multilevel climate action towards sustainable, low-emission, and resilient territories Global Covenant of Mayors for Climate & Energy (GCoM) In an era of required transformation, a climate-just future for all needs high ambition and effective transformative action. This session will bring together local, regional and national government representatives to identify leverage points for the future of multilevel climate action. The material gathered during this session will structure the political input to be taken by our constituency to the COP27, building on reflections about the relevance of adaptation strategies, multilevel governance and action, climate justice, and the need to accelerate climate financing as a contribution to the Pact for the Future.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
14:00-15:30	Through Children's Eyes: Incorporating children's perspective into metropolitan strategies Metropolis Metropolis, with the support of UCLG, launched in 2021 the drawing contest "Metropolis Through Children's Eyes". Nearly 1,200 children from metropolises across five continents answered the question "how do you imagine a better future for your city?" in a drawing. The objective was to bring children's voices into the metropolitan policy debate in the form of policy recommendations. In this interactive session, Mayors from five major cities will react to some of those drawings and the insights they provide on which elements of the metropolis are essential to children's everyday lives, and how children can be full participants in the metropolis.	DCC1 – 109-110 Interpretation EN - ES - FR

The session will highlight initial findings, as well as case studies of research, integrated projects, and activities that can support local governments and partners in their pursuit of climate action implementation. There will be a dedicated timeslot for participants to 'pitch' their own ideas and proposals - including existing research efforts, innovative solutions, and new activities and partnerships - to address highlighted gaps and priorities.	DCC1 – 101-102 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
16:00-17:30	Public Space as a Catalyst for Improved Mental Health UCLG Committee on Urban Strategic Planning What is the city's role in ensuring equitable access to public spaces that improve overall public and mental health? This session will put a spotlight on public spaces as key determinants of mental health and wellbeing, and discuss the impact of limited or inaccessible spaces to human and ecological health. Coupled with the recent release of the "Integrating Health in Urban and Territorial Planning Sourcebook", the session aims to create closer linkages between planning and health professionals at the city level to evaluate the basic elements of improved mental health and how cities can assist in addressing them via public space.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
16:00-17:30	The Cost of Doing Nothing - Scenarios for Investing in Resilience UN Office for Disaster Risk Reduction (UNDRR) Aligned with the goal of Making Cities Resilient 2030 (MCR2030), the session will emphasize the importance of taking a long term and systemic approach to resilience. Participants will participate in an interactive exercise to reflect on the cost of doing nothing, taken from the first resilience learning module jointly developed and launched by UCLG, UNDRR and UN-HABITAT in 2020. The session will also introduce useful resources and capacity building support to enhance local risk governance and resilience financing from MCR2030 service providers.	DCC1 – 204-205

09:00-10:20	Daejeon Track Roundtable: The Future of Local Autonomy and Decentralization Model in the Era of Digital Transformation Daejeon Sejong Research Institute and the Ministry of the Interior and Safety of Korean National Government The digital transformation of public administration is changing organizations, ways of processing and delivering services, and the management of public resources. To maximize opportunities and minimize challenges to local autonomy and decentralization, local leaders, policy makers, researchers and stakeholders should jointly identify opportunities, explore new options, and implement innovative policies to make the best use of digital technologies available in the fourth industrial revolution. The session will share ideas, best practices and lessons, particularly from the perspective of local governments.	DCC1 – 107-108 Hybrid Interpretation EN - KO
10:00-11:30	Local4Action Track International Solidarity among Local Governments during Crises Cités Unies France (CUF) and UCLG Working Group on Territorial Prevention and Management of Crisis Local and regional authorities have demonstrated international solidarity in the face of major crises. These coordinated and resilient initiatives that respond to emergencies and lead the way to recovery must be reinforced and further developed to prepare for new and future crises. This session aims to showcase city-to-city partnerships in times of crises and explore the needs for training and improvement of these solidarity systems.	DCC1 – 101-102 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:30	The Future of the New Urban Agenda: Towards an interurban future Special Envoy to the New Urban Agenda (NUA) The New Urban Agenda is a critical cornerstone and accelerator for the achievement of the universal development agendas. More than five years on since its adoption, commitment by national governments must be strengthened and the role of local and regional governments in its achievement must be recognized. This session will facilitate a dialogue between key actors involved in the mobilization around the New Urban Agenda to discuss how joint strategies can be developed and strengthened, taking into account the key role that intermediary cities play in the future of the global agendas.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR

10:00-11:30	Local4Action Track What is next for Agenda 2030? Tools for Local and Regional Governments UN SDG Action Campaign With only seven years to go, Agenda 2030 needs to offer new tools to allow local government action, keep them engaged with Agenda 2030, deliver and communicate better and implement more inclusive SDG actions. The session aims to present new tools for cities and territories including the "Flip the Script" campaign and the SDG Local Tales. It will also look back to see how SDGs have transformed public administration at local level, supporting long-term planning and focusing on local needs and priorities.	DCC1 – 109-110 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
10:00-11:30	Social Inclusion post COVID-19: Which actions? Governors Association of Korea (GAOK) and Cités Unies France (CUF) Social inclusion, as a way to take care of all the populations of a territory and leave no one behind, has been revealed as a priority during the COVID-19 crisis. Decentralized cooperation, meetings of community networks and other expressions of solidarity were deployed in the face of rooted and often invisible or neglected fragilities. This session will serve to understand the distribution of social competences, showcase examples of actions and share lessons for long-term inclusion, towards full integration of the most fragile groups.	DCC1 – 204-205
10:00-11:30	The Future of Local Democracy: Innovative practices of participatory democracy International Observatory on Participatory Democracy (IOPD) In a context of political, economic and climate crisis, it is essential to strengthen the sense of community, guarantee rights and co-create solutions. Collaboration between local governments and civil society is essential to implement the 2030 Agenda from the bottom-up. The objective of this workshop is to explore innovative examples of participatory democracy where there is active participation of the population in deliberation and decision-making processes, identify the advantages and issues in these models and inspire other cities and partners.	DCC1 – 301 Interpretation EN - ES - FR

12:00-13:30	Local4Action Track Financing the Future of Cities and Regions: Fostering renewed partnerships to support sustainable urbanization and territorial development Global Fund for Cities Development (FMDV) SDGs cannot be achieved without proper financial resources. Yet most local and regional governments, especially intermediary cities in the Global South, are facing huge financial gaps to deliver basic services to their communities. The session will present the achievements of the UCLG strategy on "localizing finances for sustainable urbanization and territorial development". It will provide an overview of the missing links to increase impacts and outline the proposed new approach to scale up support for more -and better- financing for local and regional governments.	DCC1 – 101-102 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
12:00-13:30	The Future of Multilevel Governance to localize effectively the global agendas and recover from complex crises Barcelona Provincial Government No sphere of government has the ability to tackle complex crises and achieve the Agenda 2030 on its own. Effective and fair multilevel governance through reinforced local democracy and subsidiarity is the only way for local and regional governments to respond to the increasing share of responsibilities, territorial fragmentation and complex emergencies. The session aims to provide practical information, the appropriate frameworks, knowledge and resources to rethink the challenges of decentralization, strengthen multilevel governance and deal with regional and local inequalities.	DCC1 – 103-104 Interpretation EN - ES - FR
12:00-13:30	Local Government Associations' Forum: A conversation between Presidents and CEOs from different LGAs International Cooperation Agency of the Association of Netherlands Municipalities (VNG International) and Governors Association of Korea (GAOK) Union and cooperation between local and regional governments is crucial to multiply the impact and scale up action for pressing local and global challenges. In this session, Local Government Associations (LGAs) will engage in knowledge transfer and exchange around capacity-building for their organizations, regarding member services, policy and advocacy, financial sustainability and networking. National LGAs have the potential to play a pivotal role in achieving the SDGs as they adapt to crises and the transformed relations with partners and other governments.	DCC1 – 109-110 Interpretation EN - ES - FR

TIME	EVENT	VENUE/ROOM
13:30-15:00	GOVERNMENT The Pact for the Future for Government: Governing Local & Global Realities as One The local and territorial level is critical to rethink and to reshape the governance systems into more inclusive ones. Rebuilding trust between citizens, institutions and communities, at all levels, are determinant elements to achieving the global agendas. The plenary will foster a dialogue between representatives of local and regional governments to address the role that local and regional governments will play in the multilateral system in the future, delivering specific recommendations for the movement to be adopted in the Pact for the Future.	DCC1 – Grand Ballroom Hybrid Interpretation EN - ES - FR - KO
14:30-16:00	Daejeon Track New Technology and Human Rights Civic Communication Division of Daejeon Metropolitan City and Daejeon Human Rights Center New technologies like facial recognition, artificial intelligence and the metaverse have found their way into our daily lives. They are already being used in the public sector, helping decision-making and providing services. However, these new technologies also pose threats to human rights. This session, featuring experts of ICT as well as human rights, will examine cases where new technologies might violate human rights and explore how to protect those rights, particularly in the field of public administration, in this new era.	DCC1 -106 Hybrid Interpretation EN - KO
15:00-18:00	Statutory Track World Council Members only This will be the first meeting of the newly appointed World Council for the 2022-2025 mandate. The World Council will decide the general policies of the Organization for the next period, adopt the Pact for the Future and the work program for 2023. It will elect the Presidency, the Treasurer and the Chairperson of the Standing Committee on Gender Equality. It will also appoint the members of the Executive Bureau among its own membership, following the electoral process taking place throughout the Sections.	DCC1 – Grand Ballroom Hybrid Interpretation CHI - EN - ES - FR - KO - RU - TR
